Amicus and Lifely Are Working Together for Better Participant Support

How to use this fact sheet

The Amicus wrote this fact sheet.

When you read the word 'we', it means Amicus.

We wrote this fact sheet in an easy-to-read way.

We wrote some important words in bold and the colour green.

Bold means the letters are thicker and darker.

We will tell you what these words mean.

You can ask for help to read this fact sheet.

A friend, family member or support person might be able to help you.

Amicus and Lifely might work together

Lifely is a disability service like Amicus.

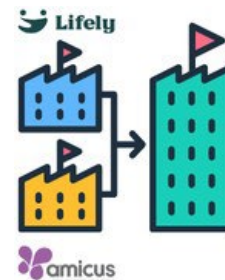

Lifely and Amicus are thinking about working together.

We might merge.

Merging means we could become one organisation.

We are checking if it's a good idea.

No decision has been made yet.

Why are we doing this?

The National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) is changing.

NDIS is a government program that helps people with disabilities.

We want to keep getting better.

By working together, we can:

- Try new ideas and services
- Grow bigger
- Share what we're good at
- Help more people

What does it mean for you?

You will still get support from Amicus.

The same team of people will help you.

You do not need to do anything.

Any changes will happen slowly.

We will tell you more as we go.

Where can I get more information?

There is a page on our website with answers to common questions.

You can ask us your thoughts and questions:

Email: future@amicus.org.au

Telephone: (03) 5441 2666

When we know more, we will run information sessions.
